Headline:
Mainly dry, bright from Central Belt southwards. Rain reaching Argyll.

Today:
Most settled, generally dry, bright, particularly in Central Belt where only a few isolated light showers expected. Cloud thickening across Argyll from mid-day bringing occasional rain by late afternoon. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Some patchy rain during evening in Argyll and around Glasgow. Brisk north to northwest winds bringing clear spells and showers overnight. Outbreaks mainly focused over Argyll, also wintry across hills. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
Cold day despite the bright and sunny spells, with showers brought on fresh to strong north to northwest winds, wintry across hills, and isolated from the Central Belt southwards. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday dry, sunny for most with risk of showers limited as northwest winds ease. Turning milder Saturday as winds back southwest, pushing rainbands across area. Sunshine and showers for Sunday.
